

Dear musician,

Thank you for your interest in our venue.
Soon you will be on stage in The crossover Music pub,
You are very welcome but good agreements are indispensable.

Here are some guidelines regarding the technical part of this venue.

Our own permanent sound engineer is and remains the only responsible party concerning the volume!

In the venue, a DB meter is used and our permit is determined by the readout.

The license talks about max. 95Db over 15 minutes.

If we do not respect this limit, we run the risk of losing our license and the performance will be over!

We will always work with our own sound engineer as he knows the venue the best and also has the necessary knowledge of the equipment provided by the venue.
He can always prepare the mixing table with your technical sheet to secure that the soundcheck runs smoothly to avoid losing time.

The Crossover Music pub is a relatively small venue that is equipped with a solid PA installation that is used by all bands playing here. It is not necessary to bring your own PA!
If you bring your own things such as wireless mics and/or wireless in-ear system, this can be done in consultation with the technician, own tables and boxes are not possible due to the limited space in the business.

The PA is equipped with the following:

allen & heath SQ5 mixer with 2 x DX168

additional active 12" monitors and 1 wireless Shure mic can be provided upon request, if available.

Multiple wireless mics and in-ear systems can be provided on request and are either paid for by the band or supplied by the band itself.

The venue also has its own fixed light installation:

16 x ledspots
3 x moving head
8 x strobe/ blinder

There is a screen and beamer provided, but due to the limited height, the light of the beamer will be annoying to the eyes of the musicians on stage and beamer will be provided by the band.
There is a closed backstage provided and at the entrance there is room for merchandising,

Below you can find some photos to give you an image of our stage and venue.
